'Alice' to be back in Valley Dec. 15

THOSE MASTER PUPPETEERS Ralph Geddis and Francois Martin have brought Alice and her Wonderland back for a Christmas treat. She and her companions will come to life through the skill of a team of clever manipulators. The all star cast will include the Mad Hatter, the Mad Duchess, the White Rabbit, assorted kings and queens, cats, mice, oysters, etc. etc... some 60 of the Louis Carroll well-loved characters.

It's a production the Valley is happy to crow about, and share with as much of the rest of the world as can fit into the Tantamount Theatre on Sunday

THE TIKI SAYS

Gardening in December in California is at a low ebb except for clean-up work and bulb planting. You should lift your Dahlias now and keep them in a cool dry place until spring. You may still plant Ranunculus and Anemone to add to those planted earlier, this will give you a succession of blooms in the spring.

We were fortunate to purchase, from one of our suppliers his entire stock of artificial Xmas trees and outdoor lights at a considerable discount that we would like to pass on to you. Six and seven foot white flocked fire retardent plastic trees that normally sell for $25 to $35 we are offering at $16.50 & $19.50. Outdoor light sets, General Electric, 25 lights for $5.49. Unfortunately the quantities are limited.

We invite you to come in and browse. We are in the heart of the valley in the Carmel Valley Shopping Center.

Santa Claus is coming to town

That Wonderful Old Man will arrive at Carmel Valley Air-strip Saturday, Dec. 14 at 10 a.m.

He will be flown in by his own private pilot and will be accompanied by at least one of his jolly helpers and met by red clad elves and lots of boys and girls.

Campfire Girls, Blue Birds and Scouts have been asked to greet him in uniform. And one and all are invited to come, in fancy dress if they wish, to join the parade from the air strip to the Community Youth Center's Christmas tree lot on Carmel Valley Road in the Village between the Library and The Grapevine.

Fairy tale characters from White Oaks Theatre will be there. Trail and Saddle Club riders are expected, as well as some old-time autos.

Santa will have treats for the children and the CVYCO will dispense free coffee from the

Santa will land Saturday at CV Air Strip

"Dine-a-mite" refreshment counter. Gift candles are also on sale there now. Youth Group members will soon be selling them door-to-door.

A house trailer for overnight quarters for the night salesmen and watchmen has been loaned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Black.

Laurel and Hardy CV Center treat

The Carmel Valley Community Youth Center will present its last Saturday matinee of the year with a special Christmas movie Dec. 14.

It will feature Laurel and Hardy in "The March of the Wooden Soldiers." It's a delightful fantasy in which Laurel and Hardy succeed in upsetting Santa's entire routine. It includes Victor Herbert classic melodies and is based on his musical show "Babes in Toyland."

Three technicolor cartoons with such favorites as Woody Woodpecker and Inspector Willoughby will be shown on the same program.

There will be two showings, one at 1 p.m. and another 3 p.m., with an admission charge of 35 cents to pay for film rental costs and operation only. There will be adult supervision and a well-stocked snack bar.

This is the last movie of the year....no more until Jan. 11, 1969!

Music Seminars application

A pity it would be if the proposed Hidden Valley Music Seminars' did not locate in the Carmel-Carmel Valley area.

Its application for a use permit on the ridge overlooking Carmel Highlands encountered resistance from many residents of the area at the last County Planning Commission meeting in Salinas. The hearing was continued to Jan. 29.

The chief objection is that the Carmel Highlands' master plan zones the Mt. Devon area in question residential; the proposed music school would be a breach in the master plan, raising the threat of setting a precedent.

There are other questions: the access road, sanitation which has produced a Health Dept. recommendation that a disposal plant be built if the camp were allowed.

A petition in opposition signed by 170 residents was submitted. An allegation was also heard that the petition was circulated without adequate and clear explanation of its intent.

Several defenders of the proposal said that the music school would be much lower density use of the land than one-acre home sites, which is the alternative. It was contended that less traffic would result for this reason and because it would be a residential facility for earnest young students concentrating in the classics.

Peter Meckel, executive dean of the seminars, explained that enrollment would be limited to 70 students, with a faculty of 10. Public concerts would be no more than one a month, he added.

Meckel has said that the Hidden Valley Music Seminars facility would not be unlike a smaller version of National Music Camp at Interlochen in the Northern part of the lower peninsula of Michigan, with which we happen to be familiar. It has developed into a famous music school over the past 30 years, drawing the finest young musicians of high school and college age from all over the country.

The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra spends a week at the Interlochen camp, and its board of trustees boasts such illustrious concert musicians as Van Cliburn, who usually is in residence for a week or two during the summer.

On a beautiful wooded site near Lake Michigan, the Interlochen National Music Camp is considered with intense pride by the nearby Traverse City, the nearby small city of about 25,000.

Hidden Valley Music Seminars, which have met at Robert Louis Stevenson School for the past two summers, would be a fine permanent addition to the area. They have the generous offer of 69 acres donated by Dr. Wesley Wright if the organization purchases another 100.

There is agreement, even among the Carmel Highlands' critics of the proposed location, that the music camp would be an admirable addition to the area. We certainly hope that, if this location can't be worked out, the community will exert extra effort to locate it in the Carmel-Carmel Valley area.

The Rhyming Philosopher

TIMELESSNESS

Don't speak to me of age or years gone by,
Or trite convention. Love outlives all time.
For whether we be young or old
Or leave impassioned words untold,
True love survives in ecstasy sublime
And never stoops to ask or reason why.

Or who are we to claim we never knew
A better life ten thousand years ago,
Remembering as lovers may
That face, that voice, that one Spring day
When first we plighted vows and came to know
The beauty of a perfect love and true.
Then down the years existence must repeat
Again and then again, and so perchance
To reunite as if by plan
For one more sweet but mortal span;
And yet in turn the cruel Fate that grants
Allotted time decrees when we should meet.

So if by Fate our years have not quite meshed,
At least we met, though needs it must be brief;
But joy is mine for I have found
That you my love are still around.
So never more shall I give way to grief
But wait in patience. Love has been refreshed!

HARRIET DUNCAN

Kathleen Busico, Mitchell Black wed in Presidio Chapel

Kathleen Marnie Busico exchanged wedding vows with Mitchell John Black in the chapel at the Presidio of Monterey in an afternoon ceremony, Nov. 17. Bishop Lynn R. Hanson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Busico of Pacific Grove and Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Black of Carmel Valley.

The petite bride chose an embroidered silk organza full-length wedding gown. Her English illusion fingertip veil was caught by a pillbox hat of the same material. Complimenting the turn-of-the-century costume was an old fashioned nosegay of white roses and gladiolas center with an orchid corsage.

Avacado colored gowns with streamers and piping of fuschia were worn by maid of honor, Etta Rae Black, sister of the bridegroom, and bridesmaids Sherman and Gloria Olivetti of Pacific Grove.

The flower girl, Kerri Anzini, wore a miniature reproduction of the bridesmaid's dresses in fuschia trimmed with avacado.

Russell Hibbert, stationed with the Navy in Oakland, served as best man. Randy Naylor of Santa Clara and Carl Black, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers. Another brother, Blaine Black, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Busico wore an avacado colored gown, and the mother of the bridegroom chose fuschia.

Following a reception at the Moose Lodge in Monterey, the newlyweds drove to San Francisco for their honeymoon. The new Mrs. Black will remain with her parents until her husband receives permanent orders. He is presently stationed with the U. S. Navy in Great Lakes, Ill.

Community Church Christmas tea

When the Women's Association of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula meet for their annual Christmas Tea, on Tuesday, December 17, at 2:00 p.m., they will enjoy a special program of Christmas music presented by the Tularcitos Elementary School Choir.

Under the direction of Mr. John Farr, the choir is composed of students from the 5th, 6th, and 7th grades. They will be augmented by three instrumental groups from the school; a brass ensemble, woodwind ensemble and string group.

A short devotional will be presented by Mrs. Burkert Cree and a reading of the Dylan Thomas poem, "Child's Christmas in Wales," will be given by Mrs. Elmer Breckenfeld. Refreshments will be served and all members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Dylan Thomas' poetic play to start Thursday at MPC

"Under Milk Wood," Dylan Thomas' lyrical "play for voices," will be staged at Monterey Peninsula College Dec. 12-14 (Thurs. through Sat.) and 18-21 (Wed. through Sat) at 8:30 each evening in the MPC Little Theater on Campus.

"Under Milk Wood" was the outgrowth of an earlier Thomas piece, "Quite Early One Morning," inspired by his memory of Laugharne, the small Welsh town in which he lived for many years.

The original New York performance was conducted as a reading, with each of the actors, seated on a bare stage, taking several parts, or "voices." In the MPC production, director Morgan Stock will costume his student actors.

The cast will include David Hoskins and Terry Gardner, as first voice (the part originally played by Thomas); Dale Diggs, Joe Heilman, Robert Mitchell, Kyra Bennett, Jolen Bowen, Norman Fagan, Dee Jahnke, Mary Mabe, Bill Meneke, Sam Mercurio, Cheryl Mitchem, Linda Morgan, Greg Niebel, Tony Padilla, Kathy Pooler, Sylvia Razez, Conrad Selvig, Mindy Stock, Rob Sutherland and Trudi Zimmerman.

Tickets, at $1 for general admission and 50 cents for students, will be sold at the theater door.

'Guys & Dolls' next at Studio

The perennial favorite musical "Guys and Dolls" will be the Studio Theatre and Restaurant's offering for the Holiday season.

Based on a story and characters by Damon Runyon it was transferred to the stage by Jo Swerling and Abe Burrows to a memorable Frank Loesser score.

Its larger-than-life characters include pretty Miss Sarah Brown, of Save-a-Soul Mission, big-time gambler Sky Masterson, Nathan Detroit with his floating crap game, pals Big Jule, Harry the Horse, Angie the Ox, Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Rusty Charlie and his fiancée of 14-years standing Miss Adelaide. All are fun to renew acquaintance with, as well as such tunes as "Fugue for Tinhorns" and "Sit Down You're Rockin' the Boat."

"Guys and Dolls" will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through January as well as the entire week between Christmas and New Year's Eve.

The production is under the direction of Dave Kirk with settings and lighting by Bob Evans, Jr. and costumes by Judy Evans. Reservations for dinner and show or show alone may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Letters, greetings urged

Three CV servicemen in Vietnam

Mrs. Leonard Rhoades' query through a letter-to-the-Outlook-editor two weeks ago about local servicemen in Vietnam has revealed the names and addresses of three Carmel Valley servicemen there.

It also generated a response from F. M. Girard of Carmel, a radio ham operator, who outlines the service of local members of the American Radio Relay League to facilitate communication by radio with servicemen.

The following is from Mrs. Rhoades, with information on the local servicemen and the suggestion that they would be grateful for communications from local people.

"Apparently there are only three Carmel Valley boys stationed in Vietnam at this time.

"My son, Robert Eaton is presently in a hospital in Japan, where he was flown by helicopter from Vietnam.

"Another boy is a helicopter pilot and has received the distinguished cross for heroism in his line of duty. His mother is employed at Carmel Valley Manor. He is "The third Carmel Valley serviceman is

P.F.C. Paul Ziegler U.S. 56837275 National Training Center Vung Tau (Phoenix) A.P.O. San Francisco 96291

"Paul's mom is a well known Carmel Valley artist and his dad a well known photographer here.

"Incidentally, this seems to be the time for Red Cross and my Bob, who has hepatitis, had raw feet and cut hands and is stationed at Vietnam although in a hospital in Japan at present, said, 'Don't let folks be little the Red Cross here, mom. They really do take care of the serviceman.' They gave him a box of goodies while he was in isolation such as toothpaste, shaving things, etc.

"Bob said the elephant grass grows about 10 ft. high and cuts like paper cuts. His address is P.F.C. Robert Eaton U.S. 56837277 106th General Hospital Ward A-2 #13 A.P.O. 96503 San Francisco, Calif.

"Thanks to the Outlook for this service.

"Thanks Carmel Valley Neighbors who know these boys and send cards."

Radio hams help

Mr. Girard's letter to Mrs. Rhoades follows:

"I would like to be able to help your request for letters or greetings to the young men in the service from this area, by relaying these messages via amateur radio through NAVY, ARMY, AIR FORCE MARS to anywhere in the world that these young men of ours are stationed.

I am including herewith a message format similar to commercial telegraph. These numbered Radio Grams were prepared by the American Radio Relay League to simplify the handling of many messages in abbreviated form. Many 'Hams' here on the Peninsula, and throughout the country are busy 24 hours a day handling messages and phone patches from our men overseas. From McMurdo Sound, Adak, Attu, Nome, Okinawa, Guantanamo, Johnston, Midway, Kwajalein, and from USS Repose. Carmel City Council reverses planners on motel remodeling

"When is a motel not a motel" was once again the question before the Carmel City Council, December 4.

At a meeting Nov. 20, planning commission had ruled that the proposed remodeling of two motel units, to include kitchen and dining facilities, constituted a change from motel to apartment use, and therefore was forbidden under city ordinance.

Applicants Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Siegrist, owners of Edgemere Cottages on San Antonio, maintained that they had no intention of renting by the month on an apartment basis, but were strictly a small motel operation intended for transient visitors by the day or week. Mr. Siegrist also denied that the planned remodeling could be termed "expansion," which he regarded as meaning an "increase in the total number of units."

SLEEPING PURPOSES ONLY

Asked by Councilman Eban Whittlesey for a definition of the term "apartment," City Attorney W. B. Burleigh replied that a motel is occupied by guests for sleeping purposes only, while an apartment is maintained for full living purposes.

Building Inspector Frederick R. Cunningham described certain facilities which did not meet required specifications, but which the applicant was proceeding to correct.

The opinion of the Council was that the applicant was genuinely attempting to improve his property, and was not seeking a way in which to circumvent the ordinance.

Councilman Herbert Blanks moved that the decision of the City Planning Commission be reversed, and that they be instructed to reconsider the application for an amendment to the use permit. Councilman Whittlesey seconded, and the motion was passed 4-1 with Councilman Frank Falge voting "no." As an appendix, the Council agreed upon a motion by Councilman Falge that the Administrative Committee be asked to review Section 470, concerning specification of rooming houses, and definition of the terms used therein.

Town Clerk Hugh Bayless read the Orders in Council, which included the appointment of Mrs. Matthew Beaton to the Library Board, to replace the late Donald Craig.

A commendable sense of civic pride was shown by a donor, (who requested anonymity) of $300, received in payment for work already carried out upon the donor's initiative, in applying fertilizer to the cypress trees at the terminus of Ocean Ave. Councilman Whittlesey moved that a letter of appreciation be sent the donor whose concern benefitted "this unique but undernourished grove of trees."

To purchase new seats for Sunset Center Auditorium, a resolution was passed authorizing the transfer of funds in the amount of $33,665.00 to establish this capital outlay project.

MORE STOP SIGNS

Acting upon a recommendation from the Traffic Committee, that the end parking-stalls on Junipero and Fifth be removed, the Council instead decided to recommend the replacement of the stop signs at that point to eliminate accidents caused by the blind spot resulting from cars parked on the center island. The Council also authorized the installation of stop signs on 11th and 12th. Avenues at San Carlos.

The monthly department reports were received and placed on file, and Councilman Whittlesey announced that, as Fire Chief R. Belvail would be entering the hospital on the following Monday, Asst. Chief R. Updyke would be in charge during December.

OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

Plaza to sparkle after trees light up Sunday at 5

Carmel Plaza will sparkle again for Christmas at 5 p.m. Sunday when the annual Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony will be held.

The Carmel Youth Center is in charge of the program during which Mayor Barney Laiola will light the big tree and President Charles McEwen of the Carmel Business Association will present prizes for the best Christmas window decorations.

A brass choir, led by Carmel High School music teacher Harry Avila, will herald in the holidays and the Carmel High Girls' Chorus will sing.

Mr. Robert Forbes will coordinate the program and Fritz's Radio and TV Repair will once again provide the sound system.

REHEARSING FOR CHRISTMAS Capers are Carmel Youth Center members Barbara Beth Rice, Philicia Wyatt (seated from left) and Kathy Yohman and Gail Fischer (top). The girls will take part in the annual show at Sunset Center auditorium Dec. 20 and 21. Everyone is invited. This is the way the Carmel Youth Center says "Merry Christmas" and "Thank you" to the Citizens of Carmel.

The joy of Christmas can be found over and over again in a book thoughtfully chosen for a special child.

Alice is back for Christmas...

...with all her friends and enemies from Wonderland and behind the Looking Glass.

She will tread the boards of the Tantomount Theatre Sunday, Dec. 15, at 8 p.m. with the aid of Angene Feves, who will give Alice life and voice as she has done for the past three seasons.

Alice's creators, Ralph Geddis and Francois Martin, gave her her start (the puppet Alice, that is) back in the Boston of 1933, the same year that Eva Le Gallienne gave a "people" version of her story. Alice's voice on that far-away night was that of Catharine Huntington, now director of the famous Provencetown, Mass., Playhouse.

ANGENE FEVES COMES FROM HER BALLET STUDIO IN WALNUT CREEK'S CIVIC ART CENTER TO PLAY ALICE WITH THE TANTAMOUNT PUPETEERS.

Also dating from that historic first night are some 60 of Alice's companions all lovingly carved from wood and sculptured from wood-plaster by Francois and Ralph. Francois did the people puppets and Ralph the animal heads; all are true to Tenniel's original illustrations of the Louis Carroll classic.

They are given life by a great team of puppeteers. Francois and Ralph manipulate the 16-lb larger figures and Audrey Cordrey and Jeanne Rutledge are adept at playing birds and oysters as well as serving as stage managers.

Martha Senger projects all the scenery for the masterful production.

Jerry Edlund is Alice's official photographer. He has her permission to sell prints of some of her best scenes. They may be purchased at the Thunderbird Shop where they are exhibited through the Holidays.

Model addition at Tularcitos School

Plans are perking to create a model kindergarten-first grade addition in and about the new building going up at Tularcitos School.

"We're after a totally new concept for this facility," explained Dr. Harris Taylor, superintendent of Carmel Unified School District.

He pointed out that the usual kindergarten has been for years sterile and unimaginative. "It's been just a teaching space, plus a little piece of blacktop outside with a sand box, slide and some trikes."

It's not enough, in the forward-looking view of Dr. Taylor. "When putting up something new, we're obligated to extend it for use into the future, so it won't be obsolete before it's done."

To sift ideas from the best literally around the world, material is being collected from Australia, Japan, England, Samoa, France, Russia, Norway, Sweden, and the best brains in this country are being picked.

FORD FOUNDATION HELP

The Ford Foundation's Educational Facilities Laboratory has promised to provide a top consultant to help refine the ideas which are already crystallizing in the superintendent's mind for the model Tularcitos set-up.

Dr. Taylor's present envisioning of the facility divides itself into five different areas:

1. Three classrooms, one for first grade, two for kindergarten. One innovation will probably be one-way mirrors, to permit parents to observe their children's activities without being seen.
2. A covered patio, about 20x60', extending off the classrooms, useable even during rainy weather if desired. It would be a creative work area, where clay, paper mache and woodwork could be carried on.
3. A natural science area, outside, of perhaps 1,000 square feet. Included would be individual garden plots, pens for chickens and perhaps even a calf.

"A BANDSTAND"

4. A "land-sculptured" spot, probably a circular "bandstand" or platform about two and a half feet across, covered with a canopy. It could be a stage for storytelling or small dramatics or for just playing.

5. A "creative play" area, with perhaps a tree house, big building boxes, winding blacktop trails, culverts to crawl through.

"Up in Carmel Valley, we might as well take advantage of the good weather and use the outdoors, too," Dr. Taylor commented.

He is also recruiting the planning and design departments of some major private companies, such as U.S. Plywood, to produce the best facilities possible. Such private firms are you can't go to the beach,

You're cooped-up inside, and your PG&E bills go up.

But look at the brighter side. Think of all the delicious hot meals, cozy warmth, television watching and other indoor comforts you're now enjoying. You're buying a little more PG&E energy to make winter a lot less painful. But with six reductions in our gas and electricity rates in the past five years—it's still the biggest bargain in your eager to donate to a progressive project, which could serve as models elsewhere.

Peering into the future, he also foresees the lowering of age of children accepted in schools.

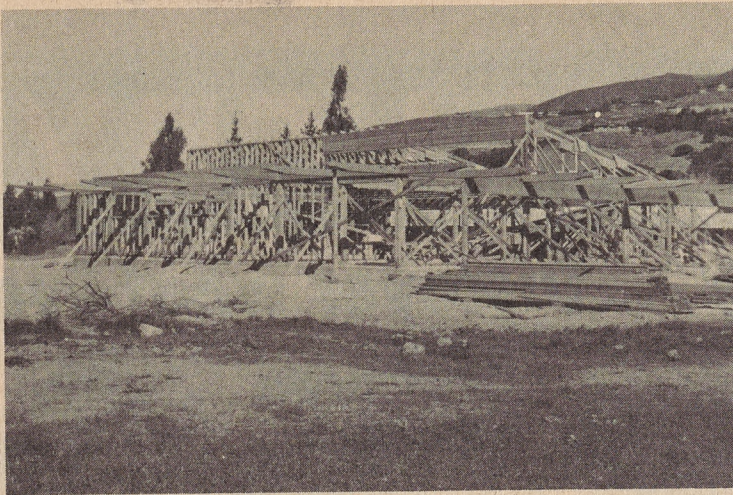

"It's probably 10 years or so away, but the time is coming to include down to three-year old youngsters," he said. "Age three is being recognized as a beginning, very formative year."

The new Tularcitos facilities are viewed by Dr. Taylor as being useable for ages three through 10. The outdoor facilities, once designed, could be very easily and inexpensively built, perhaps with Parents' Club help, he added.

The biggest planning job facing the school board is the impending switch between the Middle School and High School. The trade, with the present Middle School becoming the high school and present High School being converted to the Middle School, probably will take place two years from last September.

TOUGH DECISIONS

But in the meantime, a lot of tough decisions have to be made, Dr. Taylor emphasized. "As Churchill said," he commented, "once you shape your buildings, they shape you."

Considerable new construction will have to be done to enlarge the present Middle School. This is because it is presently designed to handle 800 students, and there are already about 1,000 in High School.

"We have to plan the program carefully, and then decide what to build," Dr. Taylor added. And this has been on the mind of the school trustees at their recent meetings, and will continue to dominate those to come.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

FAMILY REUNION

One of the largest holiday celebrations and family reunions held in the Valley recently was given by Kathy and Roger Sherman and their five children. It was the first time in ten years that family members had been together.

Among those attending were former Valley residents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ryan Jr. with children Susan, Shannon, Patrick and Thomas III, the Ryans now make their home in Washington. Another of Kathy's brothers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ryan with Ellen and Patrick drove from their home in Visalia, and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mahoney with Molly, Kathleen, Susan, Pat, Peter, and Paul came from Pacific Grove.

Matriarch of the family, Kathy's 93 year old grandmother, Mrs. Kathryn Dryer attended with her daughter, Mrs. T. W. Ryan.

They, with Roger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Sherman all make their home in Pacific Grove. Arriving from San Francisco were Mrs. Charlotte

Campbell and Mrs. Marie Mahaney. Festivities planned during their stay was a cocktail party given by Mrs. T. W. Ryan which gave the Tom Ryans an opportunity to greet their many friends and a party Saturday evening at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

WARM WELCOME

A warm Valley welcome to Marilyn and Ted Seashore who have purchased the McCormack home on Brookdale Drive. The Seashores whose children are Carl 4, Katherine 5, and Ellen 6, are former residents of Hot Springs, Virginia. There Ted for many years was a professional photographer. Judy and Jack McCormack have purchased a home in Big Sur to be nearer the Captain Coover School where Jack is a member of the faculty.

THAYERS TO MOVE

Jackie Thayer in the midst of busy holiday preparations received word that George has received his orders and they will be moving to Fort Belvoir, Virginia as soon as Christmas is over.

Col. Thayer will be returning from Vietnam December 18, a very special Christmas gift in itself for the Thayer children, Ginnie, Jenny, Jimmy, and George Jr.

Waiting at the Valley Lodge to take occupancy of the Thayer home on Ford Road are Marilyn and Arthur Levy and their children, Scott, Ira, Jeffrey, and Linda. Mr. Levy is associated with the Levy and Zentner wholesale grocers:

THANKSGIVING PARTIES

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cummings and children David, Gary, and Mickey drove to Quincy where they shared the Thanksgiving holiday at the cabin of friends from Rancho Road, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Frisbie and children.

Mrs. Michele Trivette and daughter Heidi of West Carmel Valley Road, celebrated Thanksgiving with her parents, Capt. (ret.) and Mrs. Ralph Arndt at a family gathering held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Eppler on Diablo Drive.

Beth and Clyde Hitchcock of Merrill Way were guests of their son, Robert and his wife and three children in Marino on Thanksgiving. While there they also had a reunion with friends made during the war years when Clyde was with the Red Cross.

A large representation of the Yates clan gathered on Thanksgiving at the El Caminito Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Yates and children Barbara and Bill. Arriving from Concord were Gordon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmit and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Roe. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller from San Carlos were also invited.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

A "moving away bridge luncheon" was given last weekend by Mrs. Norman Bundgard at her home on Live Oak Lane for Miss Barbara Wade. Barbara, who has made her home in La Rancheria with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Wade, has accepted a position as industrialist designer with a Los Angeles firm. The departure of the talented Valley-ite whose creations have added so much to many Valley functions was best described by the friend who was overheard saying that Barbara's move to the south was like "watching your mother-in-law drive over a cliff in your new Cadillac!"

Many amusing gifts were presented to the guest of honor. Among those attending were Mrs. Luther Wade (winner of first prize), Mrs. Clifford Bolgard, Mrs. Donald Draper, Mrs. W. R. Moore, and Maj. (ret.) Billie Mans. Second prize was won by Barbara and the consolation prize by her mother, Ruth.

RUSTY IS HOME

Returning from Springtime in Australia to winter in Carmel Valley last week was Mrs. Lucky Lawson. Rusty made the exciting flight "down under" to visit friends who live on a ranch near Sidney. The Lawsons are presently getting settled in a home on Paso Cresta. They formerly lived in the Klein home on Sage Road.

SHOWER FOR KATHY

Kathy Busico, bride elect of Mitchell Black was guest of honor at a shower given by Mrs. Jack Black and her daughter, Etta Rae at their home on Pannetta road.

Presenting gifts for the Black's first home were Lucy Sherman, Joan Sherman, Gloria Alivetti, Lois Anzini, Julie Kingtger, Laurel Johnson, Ricki Bell, Kathy Sollozzo, Jill Aldredge, Odessa Crandall, Vernussa Busico, Rose Poulas, Marie Tedrow, Virginia Bordonaro, Ora Todd, Eileen Dufur, Irene Naylor, Phyllis Naylor, Debbie Roberts, Gail Montgomery, Dee Marcantonio, Josie Sanchez, Eleanor Eldridge, Buelah Corona, Mary Thrystup and Margaret Marcantonio.

MRS. WOOD PLAYS SANTA

Kathleen Wood, who has starred in the role of fashion model for many Valley benefits, assumed a new identity Wednesday when she played "Father Christmas" at the Carmel Valley Women's Club Christmas party. (Her terpsichorean stunt with Larry Pelligrini is best described as poetry in motion!)

Fortunately Kathleen's and Bill's return from a vacation in Laguna Beach where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Stark, coincided with the date of the annual holiday party.

HAWAIIAN HOLIDAY

Jeanelle and Roy Kaminski of Sycamore Farm were having such a wonderful time in the Hawaiian Islands that Roy flew home, picked up their children, Mary, Susie, and Roy Jr. and returned to Honolulu for never to be forgotten week of family exploring.

Each morning after the children had finished their home work in order to keep up with their Tularcitos classmates, they toured the points of interest

Sheriff talks to CV CC; cleanup week slated

Carmel Valley has the equivalent of one and a half deputy on patrol around the clock, seven days a week, Sheriff Jack Davenport told Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce directors Thursday at CV Golf and Country Club.

This is more patrolling than ever before, he said, and is due to more funds voted by Supervisor Willard Branson and other supervisors. The sheriff said he is constantly faced with requests from communities throughout the county for more service and for sub-stations.

A resident officer was tried in Pajaro, but quit because he was badgered night and day with phone calls, whether on duty or not. Davenport said that sub-stations, which require someone at the phone all the time, are costly, and he would rather invest the money in more men patrolling.

Pres. Tom Bottaro announced that cleanup weeks with free pickup service, courtesy of Douglas Disposal and John Roscelli Corp., are scheduled Jan. 6 through 10 and another June 9 through 13. Valleyites are urged to begin boxing and tying unwanted articles (except old cars and such major items) in preparation.

Sponsoring the cleanup week is a new CV Cleanup Committee, with Bottaro as chairman, and Lloyd Todd of the Lions Club; Kevin Walsh, Kiwanis, and Richard Kearn, CVPOA.

CC Pres.-elect Bob Kvenild announced that the CV Garden Club has donated a handsome holly tree, which the Village Committee has planted at Del-fino Pl. and CV Rd.

Bottaro appointed a Membership committee of Lou Gardner, Mrs. Ramona Weer, Scott Rambach and Joe Ricupero, which has a goal of 100 members. Separate promotion units of the Chamber in the Valley's three shopping centers were urged.

Lou Allaire announced that plans are progressing for the annual CC installation banquet Jan. 10 at Golf and Country Club.

Malaysia exchange addresses Kiwanis

New Year is celebrated four times in Malaysia because of many different religions and nationalities, Grace Lim, Carmel High School exchange student told CV Kiwanis Tuesday.

She was accompanied by Mrs. George Walker of Carmel, who is active in the local American Field Service program.

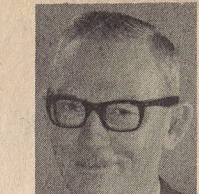

Miss Lim is a senior at Carmel High, her first co-ed school, which she says she prefers.

Joe Ricupero was presented his 10-year perfect attendance pin and King Fleming his for one year, by Pres. Kevin Walsh.

Fred F. Fisher, a retired art director of Laurel Dr., was inducted into the club.

Padre cagers lose in annual jamboree

Carmel High varsity, hosting its annual Carmel Varsity Jamboree, Friday and Saturday, went down in tough battles.

The Padres lost the consolation contest Saturday 63-55 to Livermore, in spite of the high scoring of Chris Liaolo with 14 points and Bruce Winkler's 19.

SPORTS

Carmel winds up 1st water polo season

Carmel High has just wound up its first season of water polo, earning a "very pleased" comment from Coach Jim Agan.

The Padre varsity won only 1 out of 6 games. "But this is not disturbing at all," said Agan, "for it was a brand new team to the sport, and they got progressively better as the season went on."

The Carmel junior varsity won 5 and lost only 1 game. "They were playing closer to their level of experience," Coach Agan explained. They lost the first game of the season, and won all the rest.

"The teams are looking forward to next year," he declared, "because there are only two seniors among the 28 boys who have been out for water polo."

The coach emphasized that there have been no particular standout players, for there was excellent team effort. "There haven't been any exceptionally high scorers," he added. Scoring has been well spread out.

As an example, five boys made the eight goals in the last JV contest with Robert Louis Stevenson School.

As for the varsity, Coach Agan pointed out that the team improved impressively as the season continued. For instance, in a recent game with a Watsonville Recreation team, which included four Cabrillo College players, Carmel lost by a respectable 6-10.

Monday last week, Carmel lost by 13 points to RLS, but in an earlier game the Padres had lost by 20 points.

"I'm really very pleased with the season," Agan said. "The boys made great progress."

In the preliminary competition Friday, Buchser High of Santa Clara edged Carmel 55-50. Winkler again led Padre scoring with 27, with Mark Spindler next with nine.

Victor of the Jamboree was Encina of Sacramento, which downed Buchser 73-66.

Carmel hosts Palma Friday, freshmen at 4:30, JVs at 6:30 and varsity at 8.
